DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

OTTAWA, 31.—The Dominion Parliament opened today at 3 o'clock with the usual pomp and display. There was a brilliant assemblage present. The following speech from the throne was read:—

Honorable Gentlemen of the Senate
Gentlemen of the House of Commons:

"In addressing the Parliament of Canada for the first time in the fulfillment of the important trust which has been committed to me as her Majesty's representative, I desire to express the satisfaction with which I report to your advice and assistance. I am conscious of the honor which attends my association with your labors for the welfare of the Dominion, and it will be my earnest endeavor to co-operate with you to the utmost of my power in all that may promote the prosperity of the people of this country in the development of her material resources and maintenance of her constitutionalities which unite her provinces.

It is to be regretted that the treaty concluded between Her Majesty and the President of the United States for an adjustment of questions which have arisen with reference to the fisheries has not been sanctioned by the United States senate in whom power of ratification is vested and that our legislation of last year on this subject is therefore in a great measure inoperative. It now only remains for Canada to continue to maintain her rights as prescribed by the convention of 1818, until some satisfactory readjustment is arranged by treaty between the two nations. An amendment will again be submitted to you to amend the acts respecting electoral franchise for the purpose of simplifying law and lessening the cost of its operation. It is expedient in the increase of commerce to assimilate and in some particulars to amend the laws which now obtain in the several provinces of the Dominion relating to bills of exchange, cheques and promissory notes, and a bill with this object in view will be laid before you, a bill will also be provided for making uniform throughout the Dominion the law relating to bills of lading.

During recess my government has carefully considered the subject of ocean steamer service, and you will be asked to provide a subsidy for the improvement of Atlantic mail service and for the establishment in concert with Her Majesty's government of a line of fast steamers between British Columbia and China and Japan.

Your attention will also be invited to the best mode of developing our trade and securing direct communication by steam with Australia, the West Indies and South America.

A bill will be submitted for your consideration for preventing certain offences in connection with municipal councils and to give greater facilities for making inquiries as to such matters.

Several measures will also be presented to you for improving the law of procedure in criminal cases. Among these will be a bill to permit the release or probation of persons convicted of first offence; a bill authorizing the regulations to be made for practice in cases partaking of the nature of criminal proceedings; and a bill to make the Speedy Trial Act applicable throughout Canada.

Bills relating to the inspection of timber and lumber, for the improvement of the postal system and for increasing the efficiency of the Northwest Mounted Police will also be submitted for your consideration.

The royal commissioners on labor having concluded their enquiries I hope to be able to lay before you at an early day their report with the important evidence collected by them in various parts of Canada.

Gentlemen of the House of Commons, the accounts for the estimates for the ensuing year will be laid before you, these estimates have been prepared with due regard to economy by efficiency of public service.

Honorable Gentlemen of the Senate, Gentlemen of the House of Commons: I now commend these several subjects and others which may be brought before you to your earnest consideration and I trust that the result of your deliberations may under the divine blessing tend to promote the well being and prosperity of Canada.

OTTAWA, 1.—When the house re-assembled the Speaker read over the electoral returns since last session. The galleries of the house were crowded with spectators. The first business was the introduction of new members. Mr. Dewdney was introduced by Sir John and Hon. Geo. Foster and on taking his seat was greeted with ministerial cheers.

On the motion of Sir John Macdonald, the discussion on the speech from the throne was laid over till tomorrow. Sir John introduced a bill respecting the administration of oaths of office.

Mr. Lepine, of Montreal East, will read the address in reply to the speech from the throne. Senator Perley will second the address in reply in the Senate.

It is understood the Mounted Police bill to be submitted to parliament provides for the appointment of another Superintendent. Inspector Cotton is reported likely to get the office.

OTTAWA 2.—Two hours was devoted to doubtful compliments and good natural badinage today, before the House adopted the reply to the speech from the throne. The galleries were thronged with prominent people, including senators and richly attired ladies. Mr. White, M. P. for Cardwell, moved the adoption of the address in a speech which was at once clear, forcible and eloquent, and at the conclusion received quite an ovation. Mr. Lepine, Montreal East, followed in French also creating a favorable impression. After remarks from Sir John and Mr. Laurier, the motion to adopt the reply to His Excellency was adopted and the House adjourned.

Clarke Wallace introduced a bill for the prevention and suppression of combinations.

It is reported that a new constituency is shortly to be created in British Columbia, in which event Ross will resign Lisgar and contest the new constituency.

The place is so far from civilization that no arrests have been made.

OTTAWA, 30.—In an article evidently inspired by the Government, the Citizen says with regard to the proposal of Erasmus Wilson to carry the whole Dominion Government and Government on a pleasure trip throughout the United States, that it cannot be regarded as otherwise than a piece of colossal impudence unprecedented in its audacity and unparalleled in its affrontery.

Another Kind of Annexation.

THREE RIVERS, Que., 28.—Bishop Laflèche, who has been quoted as favorable to annexation, has written a letter to the press in which he denies ever having made such a declaration. He goes farther, and declares that if any annexation takes place, it will not be Canada by the United States, but part of the Republic will join in Canada. Frozen Seed Wheat.

Important Tests as to its Vitality.
OTTAWA, 1.—Prof. Saunders reports the result of a test of 41 samples of frozen wheat sent from Manitoba and the Northwest, for the purpose of ascertaining its vitality in germinating power from 21 to 99 per cent. The vitality of thirteen samples was so low as to render them unfit for seed, now matter how large the quantity sown. Five samples which showed over 90 per cent. vitality have been returned as good for seed sown in the usual quantity and the remaining 23, ranging in vitality from 66 to 89 per cent, have received qualified recommendations. The use of such seed, the Professor says, is not without risk, but should the season be favorable, it is likely that in the fertile soil of the western prairies, many of the weakly plants would eventually become strong. It would be wise, however, in using such seed to sow a larger quantity per acre than is customary to compensate for the lack of vitality. Barley and oats are also being tested and there will be further tests of wheat.

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 6, 1889.

THE GOVERNOR.

Lieutenant Governor Roval has come and gone, and the people of Calgary consider themselves fairly well acquainted with Mr. Dewdney's successor in the gubernatorial chair at Regina. The impression His Honor left upon the minds of our people is a favorable one. Those who were thrown in contact with the Governor during his stay, agree that he is particularly well informed on all western topics, and desirous of turning his great knowledge to the best advantage of the country. His Honor's conspicuous frankness and anxiety to keep in touch with public opinion are generally commented upon, and altogether His Honor has established himself firmly in the esteem of the people of Calgary.

MORAL BENEFITS OF A LIBRARY.

The Medicine Hat Times is leading an agitation for the establishment of a free public library in the town on the Saskatchewan, and has this to say about the moral benefits of such an institution. "Now that early closing has been adopted, the need of a public library is doubly apparent. The stores closing at 19 o'clock leaves very long evenings for a large number of young men who have no homes, except their own lonesome rooms in which to spend the time. To be shut up alone by oneself does well enough for an hour or two, but soon becomes tiresome, and the young man seeks company and excitement in the saloons. The great mistake of the people who are continually harping on temperance is their inability to form a clear conception of what is the wisest move to make to further their cause. Let the saloons alone, give and give attention to establishing forms of amusement that will attract young men away from such places. Endeavor to rob them of their idle moment, and you will do more in one week for the cause of temperance than all the permit and prohibition systems in the United States and Canada. The people who have taken such an active part in the early closing should now turn their attention to finding something for the young men to do with their long evenings. Let them combine with the promoters of temperance and establish a reading room and library. This is a good opportunity for some of these people to display their sincerity."

WOLF BOUNTIES.

American stockmen just now are agitating very strongly for the establishment by the government of a system of bounties in the hope of clearing out wolves and coyotes. It is about time the same matter was brought to the notice of our government. It is true that our ranchers do not suffer from the depredations of wild beasts to the same extent as stockmen further south. Nevertheless the wolves are causing considerable havoc, and the ranchmen are put to considerable expense and trouble to attempt to protect the stock, and still suffer heavy loss. On the big ranches regular coyote and timber wolf hunts are in order; but it is impossible to keep the pests down. The brutes are said to be particularly savage this season, owing to the scarcity of carion, a result of the mild winter, the mortality among early calves and weak stock being exceedingly light. Some of the ranchers report very heavy losses with a prospect of matters becoming worse as the season progresses.

The following from an interview with D. J. Hogan, a prominent Sun River, Montana, stockman, published in the Sun River Sun, gives a clear idea of the amount of loss stockmen suffer through wolves:—

"I have made the ravages of wolves a study for several years past and have concluded that each wolf costs the range men at least $100 per annum. That the damage per head increases with the increase of the wolves I am certain.

With 500 wolves on a given range the damage is $100 per year for each wolf. With the increase of the pests comes an increased power of destruction, and you may be sure that the wolves avail themselves of it. Thus it is possible to materially increase the damage per head done by these animals, and unless something is done quickly to prevent it the stock interests of Northern Montana will be destroyed. I believe that a bounty of $5 should be placed on every wolf's scalp for one year; this would cause the most of them to be killed off by wolves and would save us $95 for each wolf so killed; the second year $3 should be paid, and this, I believe, would work their entire extermination and save us many thousands of dollars." The matter is one well worthy of immediate attention by the government.

THE SPEECH FROM THE THRONE.

The address delivered by the Governor General upon the occasion of the opening of parliament is always looked forward to with a great deal of interest, as announcing the government programme for the session. Frequently the speech is very meagre, but this complaint can scarcely be made about the one delivered by His Excellency yesterday afternoon and published in last evening's HERALD. It will be remarked that the government intends during the present session to persevere with the policy of progress they have been following for so many years now. Sir John Macdonald's ministry will have confidence in the future of the country and still recognizes the necessity of assuring progress by adopting energetic measures. The intention of the government, expressed in the speech, to provide for an improved Atlantic mail service, for a line of fast steamers between British Columbia and China and Japan, and for direct communication by steam with Australia, South America and the West Indies shows that the government is actuated by the same spirit as it was when it pushed through its great railroad policy. The opposition in the House will of course oppose all of these measures. That really goes without saying. In the same way they opposed the building of the C. P. R. and every other progressive measure which has been carried out by the government, and their opposition will amount to nothing more now than it did then. The cry of economy is all very well, but not that kind of economy which would lead a business man to avoid the expense of supplying his establishment with necessary facilities, which is the species of economy Cartwright, Mills, Charlton, Laurier and the other occupants of the opposition benches are so fond of preaching. That kind of economy has no admirers in Alberta, at any rate. Our community is a progressive one, with the same confidence as to the future of the country as possessed by the government, and in carrying out their energetic policy of progress the ministry will have the fullest sympathy of the people of Alberta, if they have not of every other community in the Dominion. There is not one of the steamship services referred to in the speech which does not promise great things for Alberta.

ASSUING MR. BLISS.

Since Mr. George P. Bliss G. P. of the Sons of Temperance had the honor and honesty to announce himself as a practical temperance advocate, in favor of high license instead of prohibition, a result of his observations as to the failure of the prohibition law in the Territories, the prohibitionists have been attacking him with the bitterness which comes a natural result of the bigotry so strongly developed within them. The Canadian Citizen prints a particularly savage attack upon Mr. Bliss by one Alfred Walker of Qu'Appelle. In the course of his letter this correspondent writes:—"Mr. Bliss tells us that he has been on a visit to the Territories, and from what he has seen he believes 'the only salvation of this fine country is a stringent license law.' What did he see? He mentions liquor sold freely at 50c a glass, and heard of enormous prices paid for drawing liquor in certain cases, and of 500 gallons secreted in a Church. But he does not tell us that he knows these things to be facts, by what he saw himself. He speaks, too, of the general indifference towards the temperance cause everywhere prevailing, and gives as evidence that at one of his meetings, ministers and officers of the law and of the Government, were conspicuous by their absence. He does not say in what town this meeting was held. But if it were to hear the highest officer of a grand old temperance order openly advocate license as the salvation of this fine country, it does not seem surprising that they were not on hand."

Mr. Bliss is the present G. W. Patriarch of the Sons of Temperance in Manitoba. As a member of that noble order, he stands pledged neither to make, buy, sell, or use, any spirituous or malt liquors, etc. Yet here he speaks out as the highest officer of that Order, and far and wide advocates the sale of liquor in these Territories. Surely, in all decency, if the man has honestly been compelled to change his views to such a degree, he ought first to have stepped down and out of all connection with the Sons of Temperance, a body which has uniformly pronounced against the sale of liquors as a beverage in every land where it exists. Since these utterances have been given to the public, Mr. Bliss has become the hero of the hour in the bar-room, and in drinking circles he is pronounced a level-headed man. But temperance men are not named of him as a representative man, and totally repudiate the stand which he has taken. Is there nothing else under the sun that Mr. Bliss could have attempted to help the country. He deplores the evil of drink, and want of temperance sentiment. Why not hold public meetings and try to create a better sentiment, and arouse the churches and church members to a sense of their duty. Why not seek to have the present law amended and enforced as to secure better results than he observed?"

How is this for a monument to prohibition fanaticism? Here is a gentleman who has spent a life time working in the cause of temperance. In the interests of that cause he came to the Territories to attempt to suppress the ever increasing sentiment of hostility to the present prohibitory law. After carefully investigating the matter he found the prohibitory law, defeating the very ends it was destined to serve, in fact fostering drunkenness. He was sufficiently free from prejudice to recognize the fact that he had been working on the wrong tack, and conscientiously enough to acknowledge the error. For his manly avowal of his honest opinions, Mr. Bliss is brutally assailed as "A bar-room hero." It is nothing but these repeated exhibitions of pharisaical bigotry which make the prohibition people a laughing stock in the land, instead of a power for good. This is too liberal minded an age for the public to allow the policy of the country to be dictated to by a party of fanatics, and so long as the prohibitionists continue to pose as fanatics so long will they be ignored.

CALGARY'S BOARD OF TRADE.

Is it not about time that the business men of Calgary were taking steps to place the Calgary Board of Trade on a firm workable basis. The institution at present has a nominal existence, and only a nominal one. It has a list of members somewhere and a board of officers, and that is all. It is goodness knows how long since a meeting worthy of the name was held under its auspices, and it may almost be said to have died a natural death; but not yet been decently buried. That such should be the condition of the Board of Trade of the chief trade centre of the Territories is not only discreditable to the mercantile community, but a positive loss to the mercantile interests of the Northwest. The methods in these parts of the Dominion necessarily differ very materially from those followed in the other provinces, and special departments of business exist which it is impossible to manage by any rules which prevail elsewhere. Merchants here meet new phases of business and altogether they are under conditions varying very materially from those of their fellow tradersmen in their Dominion. It is consequently necessary for our business men to devise new methods of conducting business to suit their special circumstances, and how can they be successful in such development if they cannot avail themselves of such consultation and co-operation as can be obtained only through the medium of a well organized and active Board of Trade. The peculiar position of the trade in this country, still in its swaddling clothes, demands the cooperation of the mercantile community to establish the trade on a firm profitable basis.

Business men, by a system of co-operation and consultation, practicable only through the medium of such organizations as Boards of Trade, can do a great deal among themselves towards placing trade on a satisfactory basis and keeping it there. The real value of Boards of Trade is, however, seen in their influence upon legislation. Look at the immense influence for good in their own districts exercised by the Boards of Trade of Montreal and Toronto. In preparing legislation affecting trade, the opinions of these bodies are always respected and their advice very often solicited by the government.

Then Boards of Trade have a fruitful field opened to them in the way of projecting and endorsing railway schemes and other plans of general public improvement. In short there are so many ways in which a Board of Trade can be of service to a city and district that it is unnecessary to attempt to enumerate them all. It should be borne in mind too, that if a Board of Trade is useful for the regulation of the business of an old mercantile community it is infinitely more so to a new community just entered upon the task of developing its trade.

It is sincerely to be hoped that there will be no further delay in securing the organization of the Calgary Board of Trade on a sensible business like basis. Get the right men and none but the right men interested, organize thoroughly, and keep the organization free from the school debating society character, which was the weak spot about the old Board and disgusted those who should and would otherwise have been its best members.

It is to be hoped that the present officers of the Board, who generally are well suited for the positions they hold, if they only had the backing of a good membership, will at once take steps to call a meeting to ascertain if the Board cannot be placed on a satisfactory footing. There appears no reason why it should not be.

A HORSE QUARANTINE.

For a couple of months back the HERALD has been agitating for the establishment of a quarantine at the Montana frontier to prevent the spread to Alberta of the disease which prevails in the Territory across the Lines. As pointed out in this paper upon several occasions, several bands of Alberta horses have already suffered loss from the contagion brought from Montana by imported horses. The police at Lethbridge, and it is said at Macleod also, have lost a number of horses through diseases contracted from American horses; but destruction of the affected animals and the isolation of their companions has so far prevented the disease from becoming general. As a matter of fact Alberta is practically free from any form of infectious horse disease. Such disease as has appeared has been traceable to infected imported horses, and a strict quarantine at the lines should effectually prevent this impending danger to the horse industry.

It might be advisable before taking any step for the government to institute inquiries to satisfy itself as to the necessity for such a course. Let no time be wasted, however, for prompt action appears necessary. We believe that the veterinary staff of the Mounted Police has sufficient authentic information on this subject to satisfy anybody that a horse quarantine is an absolute necessity; so that the preliminary enquiries into this matter need not cause much waste of time.

We are pleased to see that our contemporary the Macleod Gazette has taken this matter up, publishing the following editorial on the subject:—"The disease amongst horses which appears to have been raging in various parts of Montana, would seem to point the necessity for more effectually preventing the introduction of diseased horses to Alberta. There does not seem to be any definite knowledge of the character of the disease, which has proved so fatal to our southern neighbors. The newspapers and veterinary surgeons across the line have for sometime past been disputing as to what the disease really is, and in the meantime the horses have been dying, and the disease spreading. The disease is pronounced to be not contagious. Of this of course we know nothing, but the facts scarcely bear out this assertion. At all events, in view of the fact that no one seems able to say what the disease is, it is difficult to understand how they know whether it is contagious or not. It seems to have been at its worst last summer and fall, and to have decreased in violence as the winter set in. There seems to be little doubt but that it will re-appear in the spring."

There seems, therefore, to be a real danger threatening Alberta horse herds, which at present are not sufficient guarded against contamination from that source. The Gazette believes in any reasonable quarantine, when there is really something to quarantine against. Whether this Montana disease is contagious or not is a question which should be definitely settled as early a date as possible, in order that the danger, if there is any, should be guarded against before the spring travel sets in between the two countries. How this information shall be obtained is a matter for the Dominion Government to decide. It seems to us the simplest and most reliable way would be to send a competent veterinary surgeon to Montana to thoroughly investigate the outbreak. Immediate steps should then be taken to protect the horses of Alberta. The present regulation provides merely for the inspection of horses coming into the country from Montana. We presume that horses are very much the same as cattle, in that some time may elapse between the admission of the poison of most diseases and the development of the symptoms. There would, therefore, be the same danger in the mere inspection of horses that there would be if cattle were let in from a plague stricken district on the same conditions.

If the Government consider this matter sufficiently important to merit their attention, and, after investigation, find the disease such as to warrant them in making the present regulations more protective than they are, we would urge them to make the quarantine only as long as is absolutely necessary to effect ively protect our horses. Such a quarantine the Gazette would support, as it would support a cattle quarantine, even for six months if necessary, were there any disease in Montana. The horse raising industry has already assumed large proportions in Alberta, and promises to grow until it is the leading one. It is necessary that every precaution be taken to protect this industry from disease. Such precaution is of course only necessary when the danger becomes apparent and preventive regulations should be done away with as soon as the danger is over. Again we would urge the Government to do all in their power to ascertain if this Montana disease is contagious, and if it is found to be so, to impose as long a quarantine as may be absolutely necessary, but not any longer."

THE DINNER TO THE GOVERNOR.

Continuation of the Report of the Event.

After the toast of the Army, Navy and Mounted Police had been honored, the chairman gave the toast of the Lieutenant Governor. The toast was received with enthusiasm, and His Honor, on rising to respond was loudly applauded. Mr. Royal delivered a lengthy speech, characterized by exceptional frankness. At the start he paid Calgary a neat compliment. He remarked:—"If I should say to you that Calgary, as far as population, enterprise, intelligence and prosperity is concerned, is by a long way the capital of the whole Northwest, why I would be expected to say the same thing to another town that I shall shortly visit, (laughter) and that would be unfortunate. I will therefore leave the citizens to say it for themselves, for you have indeed a very beautiful and prosperous town. You have reason to be proud of your town, of its schools and other institutions, and of its bright future. You have a great country around you, and Calgary stands in an exceptional position for marketing her surplus produce. There is a dividing line or divide on the continent from which all the surplus products must be sent eastward, and on the other side of that great divide they will be sent westward. On the western side of that great divide in Canadian territory Calgary is destined to be the great distributing point."

His Honor took occasion to refer to the beautiful climate of Calgary, remarking that he would like to bottle some of it up and take it back to Regina. He remarked that he would sell it to his friends without a permit. His Honor spoke emphatically of his leaning in the direction of full responsible government. He remarked that the form of government he had been called upon to inaugurate admitted of a great deal of elasticity. He had had the privilege of being trained in the principles of liberal responsible government in his native province of Quebec and it was his ambition to apply these principles as far as possible to his administration of the Northwest government. He added that he felt that as he had enjoyed the confidence of his Assembly and it was his resolve to give them practically responsible government without the great cost attaching to it in the provinces. The splendid school system inaugurated by his predecessor did not cost the people more than 25 per cent. of the money expended in maintaining it. They had nothing to pay for the cost of legislation, the costs of their public works were met by the Federal Government, only a small proportion of the salaries of the officials was borne by the people of the Territories, and they had nothing at all to pay for the efficient police service and administration of justice. It was provided in the act constituting the new Assembly that the Lieutenant Governor should select four of the members to act as a council or advisory board. At the outset he was in doubt as to what rule should guide him in making this selection. But he desired in all things to be in harmony with the Assembly and before the session he had called an informal meeting of the members and told them that he would be wholly guided by their choice, as to who should be his advisors. The result was a very wise selection, the best that could have been made.

In concluding His Honor expressed his great pleasure at the opportunity which had been afforded him of meeting the people of Calgary. He said it would always be his desire to keep in touch with the people and be governed in his public actions as far as possible by public opinion.

Mr. Justice Rouleau, Mr. John Lanoan, M. A. A., and Mr. James Reilly responded to the toast "The Senate, the House of Commons and the Assembly."

Mr. F. Simson made a neat little speech replying to the toast "The Stock Interests." Mr. Peter McCarthy and Major Vaughan, responded to the toast, "The Mining Interests" in speeches brimful of information, showing that the Alberta mining interest has a great future before it. In replying to the toast "The Railway Interests," Mr. Longhead made a semi-humorous speech and Mr. Bailie a semi-political one. Mr. Lafferty delivered a very neat oration responding to the toast "Calgary our home." Messrs. Bowen, Murdoch and Allan spoke to the toast "Commercial Interests" and Messrs. Fitzgerald and R. A. Jones to Grain Growing Interests. "The Press" concluded the list of toasts and after singing "God save the Queen" the party broke up. The toast list was undoubtedly too long and too formal, and most of the speeches appeared better suited to a staid Board of Trade meeting than a dinner party.

As a demonstration the dinner was a complete success.

A Noble Visitor on Calgary.
To the Editor of the HERALD.

SIR,—Permit me through your columns to let the people of Calgary and Alberta know how favorably our country, climate and products are looked upon by the tourists. I would also suggest to our people the advisability of extending to strangers who visit out town as much courtesy as possible believing that such attention will help us all.

The following letter from an English Nobleman will speak for itself.

Yours, &c.,
G. C. MARSH.

Calgary, Feb. 2, '89.
MITCHELL HEATH, POOLE, Eng.

January 18th, 1889.
MR. MARSH,—I have to thank you very much for your kind New Year's wishes and for the copy of the pamphlet on Alberta, which I shall read with great interest, as I have a very high opinion of its future prosperity. It is a satisfaction to me to feel that I have seen Calgary, and that I shall be able to give my friends who may be thinking of settling in Alberta, the best proof I can of the high estimation in which I hold its chief city.

Very faithfully yours,
EUSTACE CHILL.

His Lordship, as is not generally known, made considerable investments in Calgary real estate and expressed his determination to hold them as an investment.
